Foreword

These Dreams . . . This Land

What is America?

America is little boys shouting "Hi-Ho Silver!", jumping up and down to the William Tell Overture and calling it "The Lone Ranger Song."

America is brave men pushing westward into the wilderness, braving the unknown to open new frontiers.

America is Babe Ruth, pointing to the far wall as, after two barn-door strikes, the crowd jeers; then on the next pitch slugging one of baseball's longest homerun balls over the exact spot he had indicated.

America is Henry David Thoreau, philosophizing in the woods at Lake Walden in our own Massachusetts; spending only little more than three dollars for a year's provisions for his simple fare; speaking like a local St. Francis D'Assisi to the birds and beasts who came to the water's edge to drink.

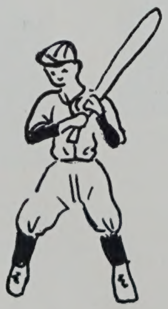
America is the courage of Bunker Hill, the beauty of "amber fields of grain," the morality of the Emancipation Proclamation.

Here at the High School of Commerce, as young citizens of the United States, we look forward to joining the illustrious parade of democracy's people.

All is not perfect. There is much to be done, and although we approach the future with conscious pride of what has been accomplished, it is also with a sense of humility concerning the tremendous tasks that remain.

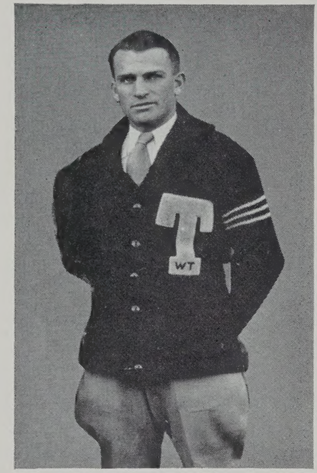
When these tasks loom up before us, we shall not be unprepared. The training we have received here, the practice in living democracy, in independent thinking, in intelligent action, will always stay with us.

It is in appreciation of that training, then, that we dedicate this yearbook and its theme: American Ideals as they are made reality at the High School of Commerce.



A GAMEL GALLERY

Behind every important man, lies a story of growth and development, lies the human angle. Commerce's new Principal, Dr. Oscar Y. Gamel, is, indeed, a warm person, who has an interesting — and varied background.

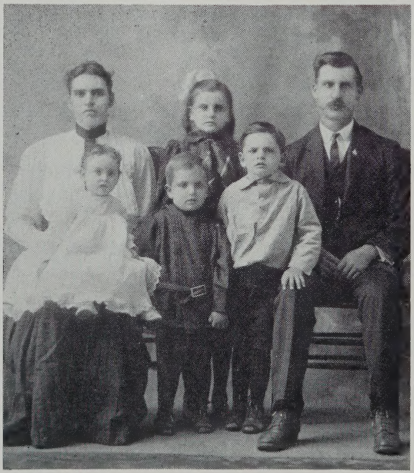


Back in 1929, on his first teaching job—and a football coach too. Minus the "Dr." and minus the mustache, both of them to come later, it's Coach Gamel of Trinidad, Colorado, High.

In 1944, they were saying "Aye, aye, sir," because then it was Lieutenant-Commander Gamel, United States Navy. Are you watching, Hollywood?

Lieut. Cdr. Gamel again, this time in tropical whites in a southern setting.

Gamel the Golfer, about to connect for a lusty drive.



The name's the same—but the build is certainly different. In this family group, with his mother, father, and family, one may see the future administrator. Clue: the future administrator was three years old when the photograph was taken.

"Hey, Pop, you may be head of that there shebang down to Commerce, but you're a grade A bottle holder to me."

A MONTAGNA MOMENT

Assistant Principal Raymond J. Montagna pauses for an instant in his busy day.

AN INTRODUCTION

Last September as we seniors marched arrogantly through the halls, our supercilious gazes flickered quickly over the new freshmen. Suddenly as we passed the stairway at 105, we were halted by the quiet scrutiny of two strange men. Could these be more freshmen?

We found that in a way, they were. For it wasn't long before the identity of these strangers was soon established through the garrulous tongues of both the upper and the lower classmen.

We were getting our first informal glimpse of our new principal, Dr. Oscar Y. Gamel, and our assistant principal, Mr. Raymond J. Montagna.

Seemingly unaware of the hubbub they were creating, Dr. Gamel and Mr. Montagna stood silently, drawing their own conclusions about their animated student body. During the interval before the 8:30 bell, Dr. Gamel wore a genial expression which, we were to find later, signified a very active sense of humor. As he stopped to talk to one of the seniors, he smiled understandingly at her. While the conversation progressed, the girl began to feel that Dr. Gamel, although appearing relaxed and carefree, really had complete command of the situation.

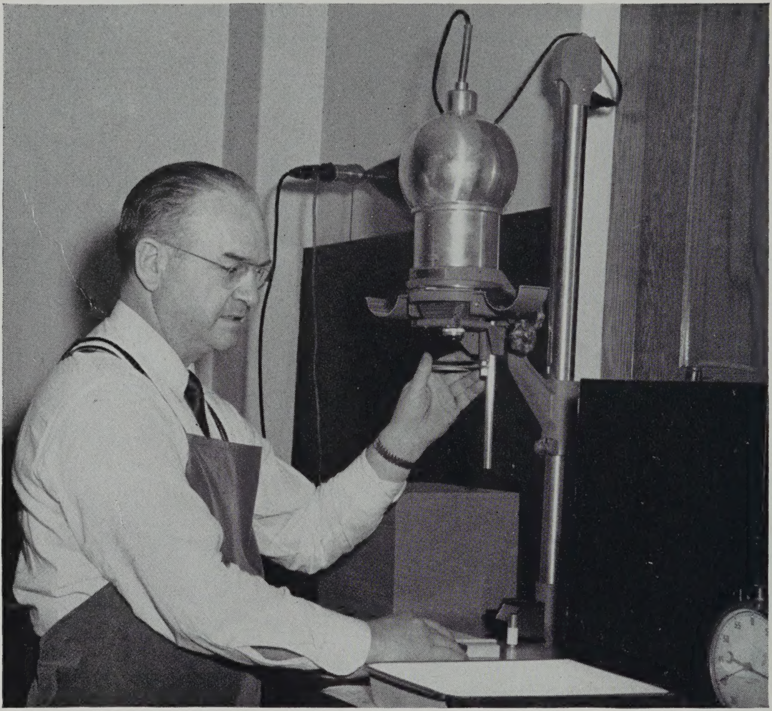
On the other hand, Mr. Montagna's expression was more serious. As he joined the conversation between Dr. Gamel and the senior, he characteristically pursed his lips and listened intently. Looking directly into the senior's eyes, he spoke in a pleasant, but firm manner. His fixed attention and intent interest revealed his sincere nature.

As the senior thanked the two men, they both smiled cheerfully. Then Mr. Montagna's hand slipped into his pocket and he crossed one foot over the other. Almost at the same time, Dr. Gamel's chin came to rest gently in his hand. Heaving a slight sigh, both seemed to relax visibly, as they were quietly introduced to their new roles among the student body.

Time has passed quickly since the first day of September, but our initial impression of the new principal and his assistant has not changed, except for the better. For as we have become better acquainted with Dr. Gamel and Mr. Montagna, we have found that their actions have definitely proved the sincere and understanding natures that we first sensed eight months ago. We bid them farewell and good luck in coming years.

TEACHER OF THE YEAR

Harold W. Jones



If you should wander into the gymnasium and see a man colorfully explaining a basketball pass to intent varsity listeners, then a few moments later see someone who looks remarkably like him rushing through photographic prints of the latest school events. . .

. . . If you should see an amazing facsimile teaching a class in bookkeeping, and then an apparent duplicate supervising biology students in the dissection of frogs. . .

. . . If you should see another identical-looking person directing the projection booth crew at Capers, or setting up a tape recorder for a teacher. . .

. . . You're not looking at Commerce's sextuplets, but at Mr. Harold W. Jones — jack of all trades — and master of all.

Caduceus nominates Mr. Jones as Teacher of the Year for his unselfish versatility, his cheerfulness, for his devotion to the High School of Commerce.

One has to arrive early in the morning and stay until late in the day to keep up with this pleasant teacher, but activity is nothing new in his achievement-packed life.

Mr. Jones graduated from Springfield College in 1926, where his scholastic ability earned him membership in Kappa Delta Pi, honor society. A few of his activities include the varsity gymnastic team, freshman and varsity football, vice-presidency of the student senate, membership in the student congress.

He spent his summers for a number of years working in camps and with Chatauqua. Back in 1923, (when there was no television) small towns were entertained in the summer by this traveling organization. Musicians, dramatists, and famed speakers all contributed to help bring culture to out-of-the-way places. Mr. Jones assisted in many ways, sometimes helping in publicity work, sometimes hammering the huge tent stakes into the ground.

Commerce's busy teacher received his B.S. degree from Boston University in 1934 and his M. Ed. degree from Springfield College in 1943.

He is a member of Trinity Methodist Church, where twenty-seven years ago he married the gracious lady who is now his wife, Audrey Lou Jones — who simply changed from Miss Jones, her maiden name, to Mrs. Jones.

Mr. and Mrs. Jones have two sons, Robert, who is married and attends Babson Institute, and Alan, Aerographer's Mate second class in the navy, who intends to begin college in 1955.

To watch Mr. Jones bouncing around, you'd never suspect that he is the father of two grown boys, but he has always kept himself in good physical condition; and when he was coach of basketball and soccer in the 1930's — in those halcyon days when boys flooded the halls — Commerce was a sports opponent to be reckoned with, winning several all-city championships.

We take off our hats to this teacher, and greet him as a gentleman, scholar, and good samaritan.

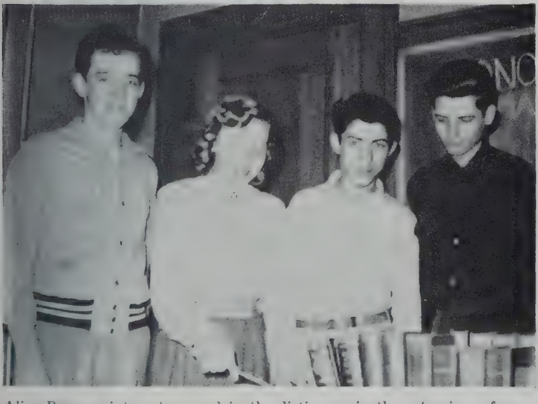
Intelligence

A government for the people must depend for its success on the intelligence, the morality, the justice, and the interests of the people themselves — Grover Cleveland.

Many of the students in Room 121 are actively carrying out the tenets of Grover Cleveland's statement. Veronica Boyle and Joan Borgatti, for instance, have shown their intelligence by attaining membership in Pro Merito, Veronica upholds justice also by taking part in the Girls Patrol.

Alice Bruso, who danced for Capers, says, "There is never a dull moment here." Alice is not the only future Broadway star here, for in this room are Mary Jane Ellis, Elaine Blevins, and Betty Anderson, all Drama Club members.

Athletically, the group has been well represented by Charley Casseles and Art Caron, both of whom held important positions on the soccer squad. As members of the basketball team also, they have popped many a scoring ball through the basket. Musicians in the room are Rocco Bruno and Don Ainsworth, both members of the band.



Alice Bruso points out a word in the dictionary in the extensive reference file of Room 121; but only Lowell Allen seems interested. Looking at us are, left to right, Robert Cloonan and Rocco Bruno.

"Here is that map Mr. Alminas told us to find," Alyce Bruso is telling Robert Cloonan, LEFT, Rocco Bruno, and Lowell Allen.

ROOM 210

Industry

At the Constitutional Convention in 1786, great men like Alexander Hamilton and James Madison industriously worked to develop the Constitution, greatest document in American history.

The Juniors in 210 are certainly leaving their mark in Commerce by working hard in many of their school activities. Well-liked Teresa Commisso is making a name for herself as the Junior Lieutenant of the Girls Patrol, to which Beverly Combs and Judith Bailey also belong.

Likeable Howard Fay is President of the homeroom. Martha Croto, Vice-President, and Teresa Commisso, Secretary, aid Howard in making 210 one of the most ambitious rooms. Sportsminded Cosmo DelNegro was the industrious manager of the soccer team.

Mary Ann De Nucci, Elizabeth Austin, Shirley Angeline, and Martha Croto participate actively in the Leaders Club. Judith Bailey, Teresa Commisso, Roger Dumas, and Cosmo DelNegro are well-known members of Pro Merito. This group of Juniors in 210 is constantly trying to make Commerce a fine place to work and play.

"Shoot the money to me, honey," says Wilma Dahlke, G. O. Agent of Room 210, and Grace Crowley graciously complies.

Friendliness

As "The Era of Good Feeling" came after the Nineteenth century, so it comes today to students of room 216B after the struggle of being freshmen. After conquering the obstacles of their first year at Commerce, these juniors are now progressing into new fields.

A fair percentage of the school's most ardent athletes are represented in this room. Shirley Ziemba boosts school spirit as a substitute cheerleader. Sandra Wolff, Evelyn Bell, and Helen Hadenchuch have contributed to the basketball team.

Because Alberta Pond has taken life saving, she is evidently anticipating a summer of safe, enjoyable swimming. Other members of the room pursue various interests. Helping Patricia Bauer, president of the library assistants, are two aids, Muriel Begin and Joan Fitzgerald.

Carol Cardaropoli serves on the Assembly Committee. Neila Morrison, Sandra Wolff, and Betty Provost of the Dramatic Club offer their abilities to stage frequent Friday morning entertainments.

ROOM 218

Sportsmanship

Ben Hogan, one of America's top sportsman, is well known by everyone for his courage. Several years ago he was in a serious automobile accident and broke almost every bone in his body. By some miracle, he recovered his health, continued to play golf, and surged back to win championship matches. During his life, he has experienced defeat and victory. As a good sportsman, he has taken this in his stride.

Sportsmanship like this can be found also in the junior homeroom 218. The gym demonstration was an example of one of the most popular sport activities of the year. Elaine Bilski, Joan Fish, Louise Golfiere, and Theresa Gove made a wonderful showing. John Keefe, Ronald Lindman, Norman Levesque did themselves proud.

Roller skating proved to be interesting to Dolores Berard, Carolyn Bilton, Theresa Dudley and Marjorie Gorham. Swimming drew many beginners, among them Marjorie Gorham and Nancy Grimes. Barbara Bennett took the Senior Life Saving Course. Bowling also commanded a response, with Joyce Ekmalian and David Mellen trying out their talent at the sport.

Teamwork was illustrated the way the students combined their talents to help make enjoyable music. Joy Duhamel, Arlene Flagg, Joan Fish, Nancy Grimes, and Norman Levesque all contributed to the music department.

Teamwork

During the Civil War, Abraham Lincoln, discussing the slavery question, said that unless the states formed a perfect union, they would dissolve. Lincoln said, "United, we stand, divided, we fall."

In Room 224, we certainly can find that old American quality of teamwork for which Lincoln called. Under the capable eyes of Miss Dora M. Briggs, the students all work together to make this an outstanding room.

The room boasts athletes in Victor Zancan, Allen Wright, and Peter Smith. Besides playing on the soccer team and managing the baseball team, Dean Stroshine is also G. O. Agent.

Not to be outdone by the boys, the girls are also active in sports. Sandra Ogoley, Janice Madison, Joan Martin, and Doreen Nason are just a few who are enthusiastic about roller skating, basketball, softball, volleyball and other girl's sports.

Barabara Mazza, in addition to sports activity, has been homeroom president. Agnes Misitano, a member of the Student Council, maintains a high scholastic record and is in the Pro Merito Society.

Lincoln's words still ring true for this room.

Organization

In 1775 the farmers of Concord and Lexington organized to fight the British for their liberty.

The students in 317 are like the Minute Men in the American Revolution. Just as they were prepared for service at a moment's notice, the pupils of 317 are prepared for the many duties that are assigned them. Pro Merito members, like JOAN SMALL, DIANA SOJKA, and GAIL STEVENS agree that homework is a full-time job.

Enthusiastic participants in Drama Club activities are NANCY SPAULDING, MAUREEN SCULLY, and MARIE ROBILLARD. Those library-assistant gals, JUNE RAE and ALICE SZEMELA, love to deal with fascinating books.

Energetic ROSE MARIE SARNO is G.A.A. Board Secretary and President of the homeroom, and is assisted by vice president JUNE RAE. MARCIA GOMES participates as secretary; DIANA SOJKA is treasurer. Mercury — the girl who is responsible for errands is BARBARA ROBERTSON.

No matter how active these girls' programs may be, there is always a pleasant atmosphere surrounded by happy chatter. These girls, under the guidance of MISS HONORA F. NELLIGAN, are proving that organization is important in reaching any goal.

Initiative

The bright lights that now shine 'round the world beam from the initiative that characterizes the United States, for it was Thomas Alva Edison who dispelled the darkness with his invention of the incandescent bulb in 1879.

That same kind of initiative is well reflected in the eager, enthusiastic faces in Junior Room 326.

Bubbling with personality, NANCY TROMBLEY is homeroom president. VERONICA VECCHIARELLI contributes ideas to the Junior Executive Committee, while LOUISE TERRITO, a Dramatic Club member, is her alternate.

MARION THRESHER is homeroom treasurer and G.O. Agent, and JEANNE TARDIF is a member of the Leaders Club. Imaginative DENISE THOMAS helps perk up assemblies as a member of the Assembly Committee. LEAH TESORO and PATRICIA TODD are qualified Patrol members. Patricia belongs also to Pro Merito.

These girls prove that Room 326, through its initiative, will contribute much to the class of '55.

JOLLY JUNIORS — AND THEIR FRIENDS

These athletic smiles are willed to the juniors by this group of glowing seniors.

Being threatened with snow by both Mr. Alminas and Patricia Todd is only slightly frightening to Joan Vennard.

FRIENDLY BATTLE

Stimulating competition is one thing we're proud of—as young citizens of the United States and as students at Commerce. Such was the spelling bee held in December before an excited assembly hall. LEFT TO RIGHT, Dr. Clarence I. Chatto, Classical principal, who conducted the event; first-place winner, Milton Johnson; second-place winner, Rita May Jennings; third-place winner, Barbara Robertson.

SHARING THE "KNOW-HOW"

Passing on knowledge to the younger generation that they might succeed has been a tradition in the United States. Here Mr. Henry F. Colton, cashier of the Third National Bank, and Private Secretary Ivanna Moretti, a Commerce graduate, give the magic words to (LEFT TO RIGHT) Karlene Kuralt, Barbara Horine, and Joan Lovett, as business consultants advise Seniors.

They Also Serve . . .

Massachusetts Mutual Life Insurance Company Plays Host to Seniors

On January 26, through the efforts of Mr. G. Donald Melville, placement director, a large group of seniors enjoyed the traditional hospitality of the Massachusetts Mutual Life Insurance Company. The seniors were guided through the huge State Street building by company officials who explained the operation of an intricate array of business machines. Here a group of seniors are shown inspecting a machine which inserts checks and enclosures into window envelopes at an amazing speed.

"Here's How We Find Them!"

With Dr. Oscar Y. Gamel as an interested spectator, company leaders were most gracious in giving details as to the workings of various systems and devices. Many a senior, impressed by the complex organization and the attitudes of executives, decided she would like to work for this company; and before the end of May, six new graduates had already been taken into the firm. Here Employment Manager Ralston B. Stone and Secretary James Greenwood explain how the Convé filer works.

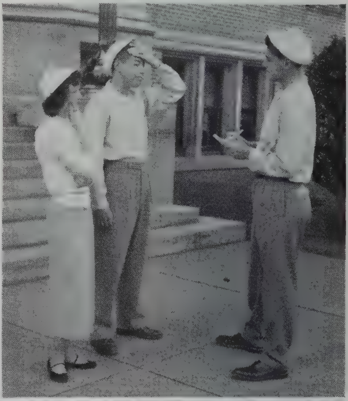
COMMERCE EDITORIAL STAFF

Since the foundation of our country was laid, the right of free press has been one of our most valuable possessions.

The Commerce staff, under the capable supervision of Miss Elizabeth C. Connell has given an outstanding contribution to the High School of Commerce. The articles in Commerce are read with great enthusiasm and enjoyment by the whole school. The fashion page, school activities, sports, and the many excellent editorials are only a few of the headliners in this paper. A pat on the back should be given this outstanding group of students for their wonderful work in bringing the news to us, and a vote of thanks goes to their adviser, Miss Connell, for her untiring effort.

When Dr. Joseph Romita vividly described conditions in Spain for a student audience here in December, Betty Provost (LEFT) and Carol Duval were there for the scoop.



"What do you think of the situation in Ruanda-Urundi?" Inquiring Reporter Tony Curto asks. Joan Prime ponders the question, while Ed Zancan replies, "It's like the dog said when he sat on the sandpaper—'Rough! rough!' "

COMMERCE BUSINESS STAFF

A successful newspaper like Commerce can attribute much of its achievement to a capable business staff, such as is here represented under the capable direction of Mr. Carl R. Stone.

William Fielding's persuasive manner brings support from leading Springfield merchants, while on Circulation day, energetic Priscilla Foster dashes from room to room, counting out papers for all G.O. members. Susan Borghi is the flash-bulb fiend whose photographs often liven up the pages of the paper.

BAND

George Gershwin and Victor Herbert; John Philip Sousa and Serge Koussevitsky; Artie Shaw and Glenn Miller . . . these are some of the heroes of American music in whose footsteps our versatile band follows as it evokes applause from the student body. Especially outstanding this year was its performance at Capers. The band further demonstrates its ability by sending each year players to the Massachusetts All-State Band.

For these achievements, much credit goes to Mr. Walter D. Nickerson, for not only does he direct the group, but he also spends many voluntary hours instructing members in various instruments. Of the present group, twenty-one have taken lessons from him.

STUDENT COUNCIL

True to the American tradition of self-government, students at Commerce establish their own rules to a large extent, make most important decisions on their own, through their elected representatives. Under their excellent leadership, Commerce folk feel that they have strong, clear, and logical voices in governing themselves.

"... OF THE PEOPLE ..."

One of the great traditions of our country is the right, the duty, and the privilege of the people to govern themselves. Hence, the High School of Commerce may well be proud of the way this spirit is manifested among students, and especially by the Girls and Boys Patrols.

Under leadership of its faculty adviser, Mr. Anthony J. Serafino, and the student officers, this large group has gained the respect of the faculty and school administration.

KUMTUX

Back in colonial days, members of the community gathered to help each other in their problems. At these meetings the Indian word "Kumtux" — meaning "Come, friend," — must have been used many times. This amiable tradition is being continued by Commerce's Kumtux Club. Miss Helen M. Lynch is adviser; Joan Savage, president; Margie Bates, vice-president; Irene Willette, secretary; and Gladys Snyder, treasurer.

THE WORLD OF BOOKS

Since the early days of America, the library has been an essential part of our everyday life. In every small town there has sprung up a library whose influence contributes to community understanding.

Commerce has one of the best libraries in the Springfield school system. Under the supervision of Miss Mae G. Anderson and her helpers, the library is run smoothly and efficiently, with the president, Pat Bauer, and the vice-president, Marion Chestnut, playing an important part. All of these splendid assistants blend their energies and talents to provide one of the most pleasant rooms in the High School of Commerce.

COMMERCE "TOWN MEETING"

Surely you must remember Donald Scott-Morrison and his harpsichord, or Robert Terry, the "Modern Robin Hood of the Bow." These are only a few of the attractions that the Assembly Committee has chosen.

The nine students and five teachers who make up this committee try earnestly to pick out interesting and unusual programs. With much hard work and careful concentration, the group plans for the entire year the excellent assemblies that we all enjoy so much.

PRO MERITO SOCIETY

They burned the midnight oil! They racked their brains for answers! They pursued that gleaming will o' the wisp, academic knowledge! And then came success and its reward: election to the Pro Merito Society.

This year, the students formed a panel discussion similar to the popular radio program "Make Up Your Mind." In each meeting, problems that confront the members have been debated by the panel and by one adult expert. Following the discussion, the audience has participated.

Vivacious Miss Helen E. Rankin, adviser, lends her vitality to this zealous group.

The Pro Merito Society is looking forward to seeing YOU next year.

CHORUS

The mixed chorus is a blending of the harmonious tones of the voices of both the boys and girls of Commerce. This group consists of representatives of all three classes. They are very well known for their wide selection of music and for the wonderful way in which they present their selections.

DRAMA CLUB ASSEMBLY

Commerce's Assembly Hall quivered with the roars of laughter on April 2, when the Drama Club presented an old-fashioned melodrama "Saved from the Fate of Her Sister." In one of the most amusing plays presented at Commerce in many moons, the cast rollicked through lines that kept that audience in constant mirth.

Bob Belli as the villain and Tom Weatherbee as the hero were effective foils for one another, while parallel roles were excellently portrayed by Lois Stone as the villainess and Nancy Joubert as the heroine. Norman Levesque as the father and Marie Radway as the mother brought talent to their parts, while John Tyburski, as the little boy in search of his wandering father, sent the house into gales of laughter. Roy Johnson, as old-time pianist, successfully created atmosphere.

Much of the success of the presentation was due to the fine staging, setting, and costuming under the direction of Mr. Harold W. Taylor, and play direction by Mr. Herbert Michaels.

GENERAL ORGANIZATION

Like our government,. Commerce also has its Treasury Department — the G. O. Accounting Class. This group maintains all records for disbursing of money under the General Organization. Under the watchful supervision of Mrs. Helen M. Foote, this group has made an important contribution toward keeping Commerce on a solid financial foundation.

The distribution of that money is determined by an important student-faculty group known as the G. O. Board, while the indispensable G. O. Agents handle accounts of all students in their homerooms.

SOCCER

This year's soccer team was, in many respects, the smartest team that Commerce has had for some time. Having only six regulars from last season, the team was perhaps a little slow in getting started, but their teamplay, spirit, and thinking were outstanding.

The halfback line of Ross, Belli, and Caron was second to none in the city. Captains Belli and Zancan were excellent leaders, bringing the team to third place in the interschool league. Due to the terrific goal-tending of John Dudzinski and Charlie Casseles, only once was Commerce defeated by more than one goal.

At the half-season, Roger Dumas moved up into the starting line-up, as an inside. Bob Paran played practically every position. John McCarthy developed a terrific kick, while freshman Michael Mould showed the way to many players. Houghton, at right wing, improved tremendously from last season, scoring the only and winning goal against Monson, to give Commerce its first win in three years against that outfit.

Victor Zancan and Hank Clay played a very aggressive game. Other members of the team were Bill Ferguson, Neil McEwan, Bob Gorman, Fran Nicoli, Bob Simpson, Dean (Pink Shoes) Stroshine, Al Wright, Paul Ginsberg, Gus Penna, and Ed Waldron. With the help of the managers, Cosmo DelNegro, Richard Goldrick, and Gil Tebaldi, the team was always fully equipped.

Ed Zancan looks puzzled, Bob Belli confident as Coach Tom Collins plans strategy.

Just Before the Battle, Mother

BASKETBALL, 1953-1954 HIGHLIGHTS

The Raiders really earned their second victory of the season by outlasting Amherst in a thrilling overtime battle, 51-50. Commerce started slowly as a result of an ankle injury to John Dudzinski early in the first period but came on strong to take a half-time lead of 23-19. Bob Belli and Fred Oldenburg sparked the Crimson scoring.

The lead changed hands several times in the last half and when the clock showed only five seconds left to play, Bill Fielding came through under pressure with two foul shots to tie the score at 47-47. This sent the Raiders into their only overtime game of the year.

At the start of the overtime, Amherst jumped off to a two-point advantage. This lead held until Fielding again sank two free throws. Henry Clay got into the act with two foul shots which put Commerce out front to stay.

The last game of the season found a determined Commerce squad winning their first interschool game in two years. Classical ended on the short end of a 42-36 score. In the 3rd period the Raiders overcame a halftime deficit of 6 points with a scoring surge led by Scotty Ross, John Dudzinski, and Bill Fielding.

In the final period, the scoring of Bob Belli and the rebounding of Scotty Ross retained the lead for the Red Raiders. Seniors playing their last game for Commerce were Bill Fielding, Bob Belli, Hank Clay, Scotty Ross, John Dudzinski, Bill Megliola and Tony Curto.

Bob Belli was chosen on the All-City second team as a center. Hank Clay, Bill Fielding, and Scotty Ross received honorable mention.

JV BASKETBALL

For the first time since its inception, Freshman Basketball had to be abandoned. This year with the transfer of Jim Mazza to Chicopee at Christmas, only four freshmen were available for games. During this short period, the frosh lost three games.

After Christmas, Juniors were incorporated into the squad. Two frosh, Mike Mould and Bob Simpson, saw much action along with another freshman, Gus Penna. The present J. V. squad will be next year's Varsity squad since only one Varsity member was a Junior this year.

BASEBALL

This year's Commerce High baseball team was inexperienced and handicapped by poor baseball weather in the spring. The team had only seven practices, and in none was a full team available.

Despite these facts, the season ended favorably when Commerce beat Tech for the first time in twelve years. This was a goal that the boys had aimed for all season.

Veterans Bob Santaniello and Bob Churchill supplied the experience and the savvy. Bob Belli's consistent hitting and steady fielding helped the team throughout the season. Jerry Denesha and Art Caron, pitcher and shortstop, were inexperienced freshmen, improving as the season unfolded.

Scotty Ross did a fine job at third base, while John Dudzinski came through with hits in the right spots. Hank Clay was an outstanding defensive unit in left field and Art Gendron did a good job in right field. Mario Maddaloni did most of the pitching with help from Denesha and Normoyle.

Bob Santaniello and Bob Belli were picked on the All-City team, with Bob Churchill on the All-City second team. Bob Belli was also picked on the second team of Western Massachusetts.

BOWLING

Bob Livingstone sends a smasher into the pins.

Faculty vs. Students

On December 23, the faculty, composed of Dr. Gamel, Mr. Montagna, Mr. Alminas, and Mr. Serafino, joined juniors and seniors, Roger Dumas, Bob Paran, Roy Johnson, and Bob Livingstone for a bowling match. The match got under way with the faculty taking the lead. After good, but not excellent bowling, the boys were forced to concede the first string. The second string started, with the faculty again taking the lead. Towards the end of the string, the boys exerted extra strength, to roll up a slight lead, which they held. As the third string got underway, the members of both teams were a little tense. At the termination of a terrific battle of wits and straight shots, the faculty emerged the victors. Mr. Montagna and Roy Johnson both bowled excellent ball. The boys defeated the faculty 4-0 in a return match.

THE RECORD

This year the boys' bowling team looked as it might be able to take the "high ground" in the league, when it came in second in the first round. Unfortunately, the bowlers were not as lucky in the second. They had a run of bad luck which landed them below the averages of the first round. Next year, however, they hope to be in the fight for the championship.

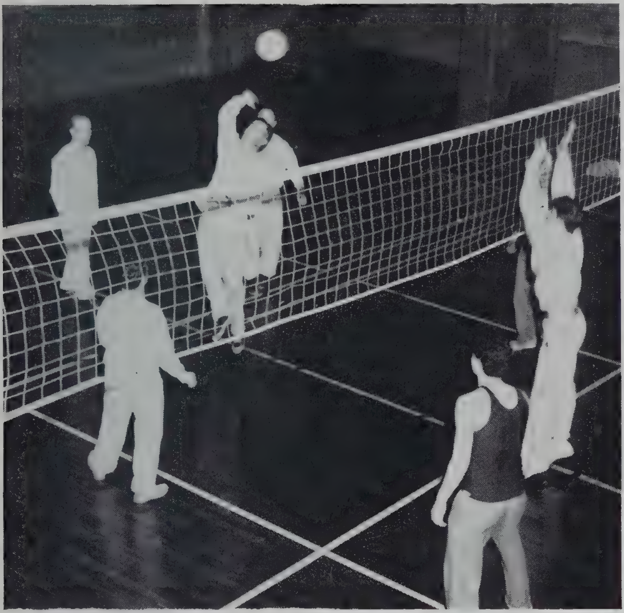
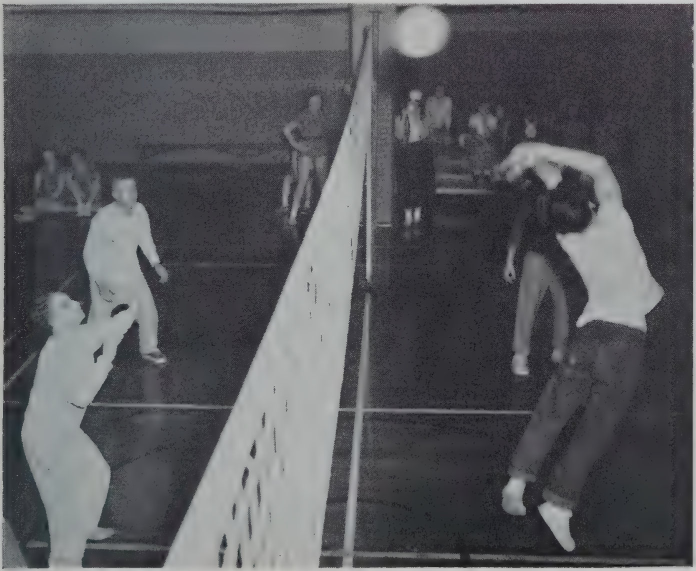
FACULTY-STUDENT VOLLEY BALL



LEFT: Tom Collins slams one back at Bob Belli, who has not yet returned to the floor. Al Alminas shouts "Hit it, Tom!" ABOVE: "Nets to you!" That's what photographer Harold W. Jones seems to be saying in this "prison" shot of the faculty team.

Victorious in matches over Freshmen and Juniors, the faculty men's volley ball team sneered at Old Father Time and his sickle for several weeks in March. Having conquered both lower classes in straight games, the teachers approached their match with the seniors with hope, if not with cockiness.

But the pedagogues were forced to bow to a team that fought just as hard as they, and in addition, had more height and the smashing spiking ability of Bob Belli behind it. Time after time, Big Bob went high into the air, and rammed the ball at his opponents who swung hopelessly. Final score: Seniors 15 - 10, 15 - 12. Scotty Ross also starred for the Seniors, while Tony Serafino, Tom Collins, and Bruno Rumpal were standouts for the faculty.



Up into the air goes a senior, while Herb Michaels prepares to pass it over to waiting Tom Collins.

Belli takes one from Tony Serafino and slashes it back over the net.

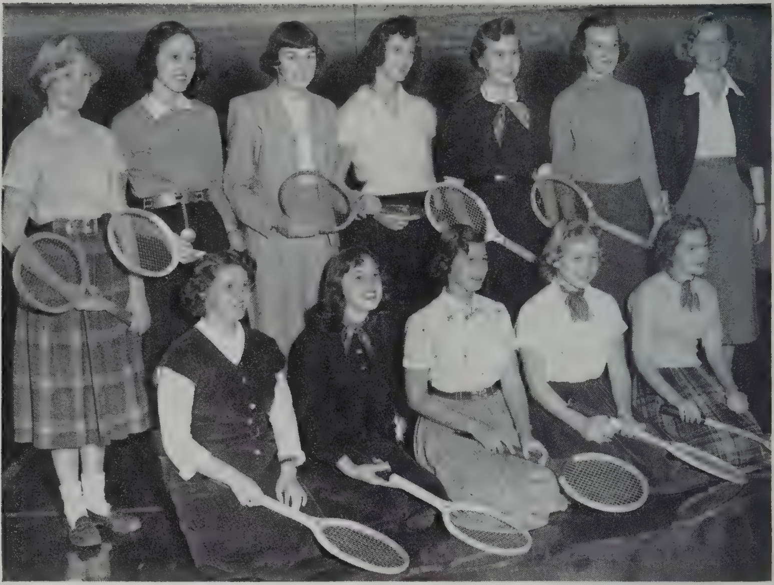
ICE SKATING

Zip! And away we go, skimming over the ice. That's what Commerce girls, in company with Classical, Technical, and Trade High school girls did at the Colosseum in West Springfield every Monday between January and March.

Bus transportation was provided to the rink, then many fancy tricks were performed — figure 8's, waltzing, pirouetting, and so forth. For some, it was the beginning of speedy fun; for others, the continuation of previous enjoyment, but all agreed that it was smooooth!

The group was under the direction of Mrs. Barbara Richardson.



Tennis

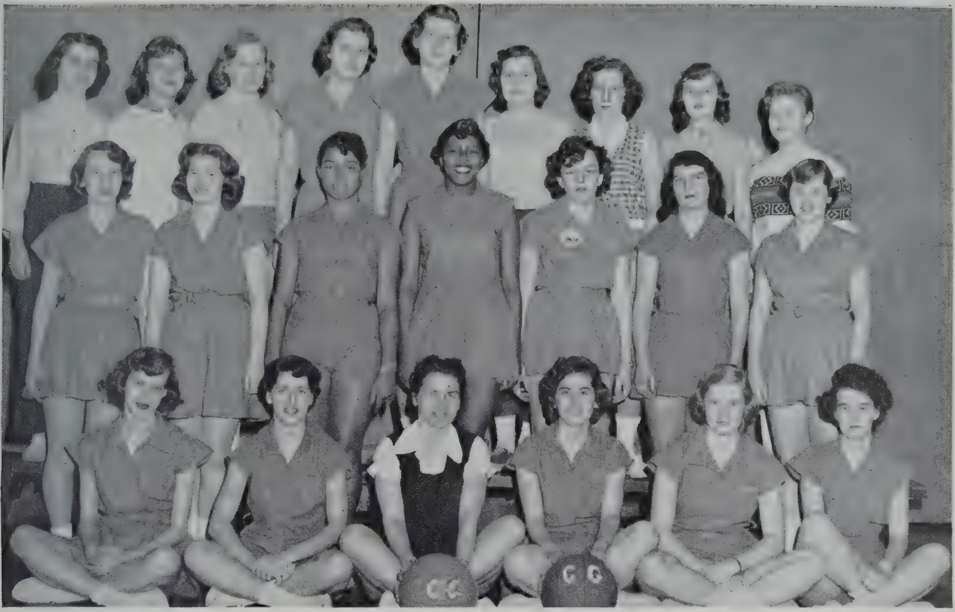
This is the bowling team that won the girls' 1953 tournament.

TENNIS

Tennis anyone?

This was the common cry when girls thronged to Forest Park after school in September and October, learning their skills from Miss Lois Piper. It was not easy at first: stiff legs, sore muscles, strained necks. But that did not stop the tennis stars. They played, and loved it.

Tennis players line up on the gym floor, safe from wintry blasts, and awaiting the first signs of spring.



Upper Class Girls Basketball

GIRLS BASKETBALL

Shoot! Shoot!

Take it easy, kids, no one's getting assassinated. These are only the echoes in the girls' gym on Tuesday afternoon as the basketball players crowd the floor.

Dashing about enthusiastically, the players learn the correct rules of the game as well as good sportsmanship from Mrs. Barbara Richardson. These are important factors when the girls play their traditional rivals, Tech, Classical, and Trade.

SWIMMING

These ducklings are anything but ugly as they brave the briny deep to learn acquatic skills. Occasionally there's sputtering and choking as an unwary swimmer swallows a goodly portion of the pool, but it's all in the fun.

From October to December and from March to May, the girls met at the Trinity Pool or at the gymnasium for their instructions from Mrs. Barbara Richardson.

How to swim like Esther Williams in just twelve easy lessons!

BATON TWIRLERS

When the whistle blows and the band brightly swings into action, it's the baton twirlers who draw the eyes — and the oh's and the ah's. Commerce's peppy group organized this year and has met twice weekly with vivacious Frannie Marlowe to learn more skills. Fran, who is New England champion, is well qualified to teach the group. All Commerce looks forward to their first performance.

FRESHMAN TENNIS

The twang of a hard-hit ball resounded many times at Forest Park last autumn, when Freshman girls under the direction of Miss Lois Piper, played many a fast set.

Gay times, strong arms, (but not too muscular!) and ruddy cheeks were the rewards of this enthusiastic group.

GIRLS ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION BOARD

The G.A.A. Board was the brain for after-school sports activities this year. Under the direction of Miss Lois Piper and Mrs. Barbara Richardson, members supervised a full schedule of sports. Vivacious Jeannette Archambault heads the board as president; Carol House is vice-president; and Rosemarie Sarno is secretary-treasurer.

CHEERLEADERS

When the band swings into a zippy tune, it's these vivacious gals who get the crowd stirred up, and when the music is over, it is they who lead the cheers for our boys as they "do or die." Energetic, colorful, and easy on the eyes, they contribute strongly to spirit at Commerce.

Roller skating was exciting to the girls who went to the Rialto Rink each Tuesday from November 3 through December 15. It meant fun, instruction, and helping one another.

This hobby had a large turnout of girls; some of the most enthusiastic were Margaret Archambault, Nancy Case, and Barbara Horine. The energetic sport was under the direction of Mrs. Barbara Richardson, who got just as much fun out of it as the girls.
